EIGHTH STREET just isn't there any more. The steel girders of the new Engineering building firmly embedded in the middle of what used to be Eighth street have forced the city of San Jose to abandon the block from San Antonio to San Fernando streets. The framework of the modern building has already begun to cast the shadows of progress over the wrought iron cupolas and stain glass windows of the street's empty frame houses. By the time the project is finished next year the crumbling homes will be removed, and Eighth street will have disappeared completely.

Friday Is Last Day Graduating Students Can Fill Requirements

Deadlines for fees and requirements to be filled before graduation were announced by Donald P. Sevren, senior adviser, this week.

"Tomorrow is the last day to apply for June graduation for students who want to receive a diploma," stated Sevren. "Students who apply after tomorrow can graduate, but their diplomas will be blanks because of printing schedules."

Anyone wishing to obtain his teaching credentials this summer must pay his credential fee by Apr. 18.

In order to fulfill California state requirement, students must have had either certain courses in state and local government or must pass a special examination.

Courses which exempt students from the examination are:

1. Political Science 112A and 112B or C (six units).
2. Political Science 172C.

3. History 189B or 189BS (summer session).
4. Political Science 51A and B.

Any one of the four courses will enable the student to ignore the test, Sevren explained. Students who are required to take the examination will receive notification from the Registrar's office, he said. Instructional material for study will be available.

Seniors who have changed their course programs since registration day should check with the Registrar's office to make sure that the change has been cleared, Sevren mentioned.

The deadline for receiving graduation fees is May 15. Fees should be paid to the Graduate Manager's office, according to Sevren.

New Chapel Committee Meets To Determine General Policies

The Committee on the use of the Memorial Chapel, headed by Miss Helen Dimmick, dean of women, met for the first time yesterday afternoon to discuss general regulations and policies pertaining to the use of the Chapel.

Members of the committee include Dean Dimmick, Mrs. Dolores Spurgeon, Miss Anna L. Loze, the Rev. James A. Martin, Byron Bollinger, Emerson Arends, and Lowell C. Pratt. Two student representatives, Jo Anne Moore and Byron Rose, were chosen by the Student Council late yesterday afternoon.

It was decided that no weddings will be held in the Chapel until June 1, due to the present incomplete furnishings and the lack of walks around the building. Effective Monday, the Chapel will be open daily, Monday through Friday, from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Memorial Chapel will be available for worship services at any time, but no other events will be scheduled until after May 1, the committee decided. It will not be available for funeral services.

Scheduling of activities for the Chapel is being handled in the Dean of Women's office. The next committee meeting is slated for Wednesday, when further consideration will be given to general policies.

'Shots' Buying To End Friday

Tomorrow will be the last day for students to purchase immunization cards for tetanus, smallpox, and typhoid-paratyphoid shots being offered by the Student Health office.

The $1 charge for each of the immunization or "booster" shots is the cost of the material alone and is far less than what such preventative measures would cost if received from a private physician," Miss Margaret Twombly, Health office director, said.

Miss Twombly suggested that immunization against smallpox be taken now by all students who will be transferring to the University of California or Stanford university next year, since such immunization is required by both institutions before admission is granted.

It also would be wise, Miss Twombly said, for all pre-nursing students who will be entering nursing schools later in the year to take advantage of the immunizations being offered.

Only 58 cards had been sold by yesterday afternoon, which is far below the 2000 sold last year.

Cards may be purchased in the Graduate Manager's office, Room 16.

College May Add Master Degrees

The offering of master degrees for non-teaching majors at the college may become a reality in the not-too-distant future.

Dr. James C. DeVoss, executive dean, announced yesterday that the college will, for the first time, make application to the State to offer graduate work leading to a master degree for A.B. degree holders who are not teaching majors.

At the present time the college has a one-year graduate curriculum in certain majors available to candidates with A.B. degrees who hold or will receive California public school service credentials.

Dean DeVoss said that the college probably will seek approval of a graduate work program in business administration, public administration and possibly a few other majors.

The request for graduate programs, which will be made by other California State colleges, must be approved by the State's liaison committee composed of five members of the Board of Regents at the University of California, five members of the State Board of Education, with the president of UC and the State Director of Education as ex-officio members.

If the committee approves the state colleges' requests, the State Board of Education then must decide whether to accept the decisions of the committee.

Dean DeVoss said the majors which will be submitted for graduate work approval will be decided at next week's conference in San Francisco of California state college executive, instructional and student deans.

James B. Enochs, specialist in state college curricula, conferred with Dean DeVoss and other campus officials this week in preparing the material needed to be submitted to the liaison committee.

Dean DeVoss said that the graduate curriculum, if allowed to be given, will offer M.A. degrees on a terminal occupational basis.

Athlete Award May Be Given

"Cotton Picking Time," ASB dance to be sponsored by Social Affairs committee Saturday night, may feature presentation of the AMS Athlete of the Month award for March, Cliff Lindsey, committee chairman, said yesterday.

"The committee will make a decision on the matter this afternoon," Lindsey added. Members will meet in the Student Union at 2:30 p.m.

According to Marv Scarper, AMS president, candidates for the award have been chosen from baseball, boxing, and track teams. The presentation probably will be made during one of the dance intermissions, Lindsey said.

The affair, final all-school dance of the year, will be held in the Civic auditorium from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Librarian To Tell Children's Tales

The favorite fantasies of childhood will be brought to life at 4 o'clock this afternoon by Miss Ruth Burrough, Palo Alto librarian, at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house, 196 South Eighth street, according to Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, speech instructor.

Today's Weather

More letters from satisfied users of Sir Updyke's terrific new weather have been received. Orestes Slagg of Oenlid, California, writes, "I used to be the skinniest, scrawnier, weakest slob on the beach. All the boys were afraid to hit me because they were afraid I would dry up and blow away. I was afraid. I used your weather for ten days, and now the guys on the beach hit me whenever they feel like it." Don't wait! Send now for your probable few light showers today with very little change in temperature.

Tests Planned For Seniors

Graduating seniors who have not taken certain courses concerning California government will be tested sometime during the week of May 12-16, Dr. William H. Poytress, Social Science department head, announced yesterday.

The test will be objective and based on A. A. Gray's book, "California: Its State and Government," Dr. Poytress said. The examination will be given in the evening in Morris Dailey auditorium, and IBM forms will be used, he said.

The Registrar's office will notify students who will be required to take the test, according to Mrs. Margaret Henningsen, office secretary. She said that of the 750 expected June graduates, probably between 500 and 600 will have to take it.

Why Stand Still?

In regard to the Thrust and Parry letter printed in today's paper criticizing Tuesday's editorial on Cal State, may we point out to the writer that perhaps the purpose of the editorial was overlooked.

The fact that a number of students are against the issue is the very reason that we encourage students to speak their minds. Fully realizing that there are those who do not favor the name change, we said in that editorial, if you will recall, "a group of students who cares enough at least to give an opinion, pro or con."

Our purpose was to encourage comment, to find out how the students feel about the issue. If some feel strongly enough that the move would be a mistake, then let them say so as you have done. An indifferent majority is a far graver thing than a mistaken but enthusiastic minority.

One other thing. This is NOT a teachers' college. The majority of students in this school are NOT education majors. The department has gained high recognition, but perhaps non-education majors get a little tired of hearing, "Oh, you're going to be a teacher?", when referring to their school. Perhaps you have given one of the greatest arguments in favor of changing the college's name—changing it to one that will give the entire school deserved recognition, not just a part of it.

You say, "The college has done all right for itself." Yes, it has, but as there is a chance to go farther, why stand still? Why not progress if we have the chance?

We're on the map of California, yes, but perhaps we could stand to be more than just a speck on the map of the United States.

D.P.

Thrust and Parry

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Tuesday's Daily editorial reprimands Spartan apathy toward the proposed name change from San Jose State college to California State college. Perhaps the writer of this editorial did not stop to think that there are some who do not favor the name change.

The college has done all right for itself in establishing a "name." One student I know came to this college from Hawaii because she had heard about San Jose's talent for turning out good teachers all her life. She told me that she had learned all about SJS just like she had learned about all the states and their capitals.

This recognition as an excellent teacher's college has come about naturally because the graduates of this college have been proven, as a whole, to be superior as teachers.

Changing the name of this college would not put us "on the map" because we are already on it! And, isn't it a bit presumptuous to think that we are THE state college in California? Must we stoop to patting ourselves on the back?

Anyway, "a rose by any other name..."

Native Californians Dominate College Faculty Membership

Native Californians dominate the college faculty, according to a survey conducted by the Public Relations office, which reveals that nearly one-third of the 379 instructors and administrators were born in the Golden state.

At least 87 of the 121 Californians were born in the northern half of the state. Fifty California communities are on the list of birthplaces, with 11 native sons or daughters not specifying the exact location.

San Jose leads the list of cities, having 21 representatives on the faculty. An additional 13 hail from Santa Clara county.

Following San Jose are San Francisco, 14; Fresno and Oakland, 6 each; Los Angeles and Santa Clara, 5 each; and Alameda, 3.

Forty states, the District of Columbia, and eleven foreign countries are listed as birthplaces.

Illinois trails California with 19. Other leading contributors are Minnesota, 17; Nebraska and Wisconsin, 14 each; Iowa and New York, 13 each; Kansas, 12; and Michigan and Washington, 10 each.

The only states not included are Arkansas, Georgia, Florida, Delaware, Mississippi, Rhode Island, Tennessee and Vermont.

Canada and Germany lead the foreign contributors with 6 each.

Russia is second with 3, followed by Denmark and England, 2 each; and Armenia, Austria, China, Italy, New Zealand and Sweden, 1 each.

Group Will Offer O.T. Fellowship

Occupational therapy majors interested in being interviewed for a fellowship to be awarded by the National Tuberculosis association should contact Miss Mary Booth, head of the O.T. department, in Room 73.

"Those eligible for the fellowship must be either in their junior or senior year by next September," said Miss Booth.

Convention Hears Choir, Choral Ensemble Sing

By MARV HALL

"All that is life and breath, sing to the Lord!"

The 300 voices of the college choral ensemble filled the Civic Auditorium with the thrilling words of Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" at the concert put on by the college Music department for the California Music Educators last Tuesday night.

A large group of music educators greeted the performance warmly. The symphony orchestra, conducted by Dr. Lyle Downey, head of the Music department, accompanied the choral group, and the solo voices of Gloria Collins and Clorinda DiLorenzo, sopranos, and John Morrison, tenor, were featured.

The a cappella choir, under the direction of William Erlendson, associate professor of music, presented five works, including the "Cantata of War" by Milhaud. They also sang "Tenebrae Factae Sunt," by Ingegneri, "Exultate Deo," by Palestrina, "Benedictus" by Palestrina, and "Missa Brevis in E Major," by Willan.

The choral ensemble and a cappella choir sang beautifully, but the evening went to a small, dark-haired girl in a white formal—pianist Rachael Perez.

Miss Perez kept the audience in rapt attention throughout her rendition of the difficult Presto movement from Saint-Saens' Piano Concerto, Opus 22, for piano and orchestra.

The symphony orchestra played the lively scherzo from Bruckner's Symphony No. 7, as its first number of the evening. This was a change from the originally planned "A Roman Carnival," by Berlioz.

The orchestra also accompanied the choral ensemble during "Hymn of Praise." Tenor Morrison sang the recitative and aria, "Sing Ye Praise," and Miss Collins and Miss DiLorenzo joined in a duet on "I waited for the Lord." Then Morrison sang "The Sorrows of Death," and the whole chorus joined on the final two movements from the work, "Let all men praise the Lord," and "Ye nations, offer to the Lord."

Spartans Star On Airwaves

"The Radio Guild offers practical experience in radio techniques," said Dr. Edgar Willis, professor of speech, at a guild meeting last week.

Local radio stations offer an array of Spartan talent every weekend that's yours for the tuning in, he said.

Three guys named Nick Andrews, Mike Casey and Barrett McFadon will take to the KLOK airways at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning with their own peculiar brand of humor in Spartan Review, half-hour comedy show. The trio will spin the three top records on campus this week and feature campus talent. This will be the second show of the quarter for the verbal disc jockeys.

If it's danceable or just plain listenable music you're looking for while doing those early Saturday morning dishes, tune in half an hour earlier at 9 o'clock for Coffee Time with Hugh Heller, drama major, spinning the discs.

At 10:30 o'clock there's Campus Caravan with Spartan Bob Custer and his own style of chatter and popular canned music.

Switch that dial to KEEN on Sundays and get an ear full of Spartan dramatic talent.

Slide out of bed early some Sunday and listen at 9:30 o'clock to Jerry Morrison and the members of the Radio Guild bringing your favorite comic characters to life.

Relax with a fried banana sandwich some Sunday evening about 6:30 o'clock and experience chills, thrills and adventure with the Radio Guild on Drama Time.

The production planned for Easter Sunday is "The Last Door," by Cell Rapkoch, senior speech major. Sound effects for the murder mystery are done by Nick Andrews. The cast featuring Joanne Rossmann, Pete Fay, Richard Kohler, Chuck Larson and Lee Owens, is directed by Ellen Healey.

Artist Shows Works

Now on display in the Art wing are a group of paintings by Frank Myers, well-known artist, from Pacific Grove.

Mr. Myers is one of the outstanding marine painters in the United States, according to Dr. Marques Reitzel, head of the art department. On display are one watercolor, two casein paintings, and 15 oils.

FRANK MYERS

Mr. Myers was a member of the faculty at the Cincinnati art academy for 20 years, Dr. Reitzel said, and he also studied art abroad.

In Room 1, in the Art wing, there is a display of modern American color prints being shown now. These are from the George Binet print collection.

Prices on the prints range anywhere from $10 to $75. They include lithographs, etchings, and woodcuts, by professional American artists. Some of the titles are rather interesting. Examples: "Two Faced Turtle," "Boy With Green Head," and "The Lost Snail." The most expensive print is "Falling Figure," by William S. Hayter—$75.

Eighteen paintings by Frank Myers, famous marine painter from Pacific Grove, are on display now in the Art wing. Mr. Myers has shown his works here before. Most of these paintings are done in oil.

You'll be majoring in FASHION if you study HAMMER'S show windows (First near San Carlos) every time you're in town — and you'll find that you won't have to write to Pop so often for budget replenishment if you buy your clothes here.

'Nights of Wrath' Will Travel To Monterey Drama Festival

The drama department production, "Nights of Wrath," which was put on last quarter in the Little Theatre, will be transported in entirety to the Monterey peninsula Apr. 20, to take part in the Monterey drama festival.

The whole cast, crew, all costumes, and all stage settings used in the original production, will be freighted south for the festival, which runs Apr. 20 to 27.

A week of theatre events will be put on, ranging from children's theatre to lectures on staging, lighting and costumes. The festival is sponsored by ANTA, the American National Theatre and Academy, an official theatrical organization, chartered by the United States congress, and co-sponsored by its western affiliate, the theatre council for northern California and Nevada.

Besides the SJS production, the festival will include five productions by little theatre groups. Monday of Drama week, the Hillbarn theatre of San Mateo, will present "Oedipus Rex." Tuesday night, "Nights of Wrath" will hit the boards, in its second appearance in the United States. The play, translated from French by Dr. James H. Clancy, professor of speech, was premiered here last quarter.

The next night, the Barn theatre of Porterville will give

"Years Ago." "Yes is for a Very Young Man" will be presented by the Interplayers of San Francisco the following evening, and on Friday and Saturday, the Wharf theatre of Monterey will stage "The Respectful Prostitute," and the Reno Little theatre will present "Macbeth."

The original cast of "Nights of Wrath" includes Gerald Charlebois, Robert Dietle, Joseph Lo Bue, William Resch, Judith Levy, Warren Blomseth, Ruth Dougherty, and Richard Risso. Charlebois and Miss Dougherty are appearing in the drama department production "There's Always Juliet," and will have to hurry back from Monterey to attend a dress rehearsal, on Apr. 23.

"Nights of Wrath" was written by French playwright Armand Salacrou and is a story of France during the Nazi occupation. The original production was staged at the Theatre Margigny in Paris on Dec. 12, 1946. It played in the Little Theatre here from Feb. 29 to Mar. 5. Dr. Clancy directed the play here.

The settings, which will be moved to Monterey, were designed by J. Wendell Johnson, associate professor of speech, and the costumes were done by Berneice Prisk, assistant professor of speech.

Four PiKA Pledges Join Active Ranks

Four new members joined the ranks of Pi Kappa Alpha Saturday night when initiation ceremonies were held at the fraternity's chapter house at 343 E. Reed street.

New initiates include: Mike Fisher, Bob Facchino, Doug Goodspeed, and Don McNeff. After the ceremonies, members and initiates enjoyed dinner at Dinah's Shack.

Art Butler, junior business education major, recently was elected president of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He succeeds out-going president, Bruce Summers.

Other officers installed were: Chet Keil, vice president; and Lou Gerard, recording secretary. The installations were made during a formal meeting at the chapter house.

Highlight of the evening was an after-dinner talk by the noted author and commentator Col. H. C. Adamson, who was with Eddie Rickenbacker when he was downed over the Pacific.

The Colonel's talk was made in connection with Religious Emphasis Week, and he related his experiences during the 24 days he spent on the life raft.

A December, 1951, graduate, he served as Kappa Tau's pledge-master and secretary.

Ten new members were added to the active list of Alpha Tau Omega recently after initiation ceremonies at the fraternity's chapter house, according to Don Nunes, publicity chairman.

Initiated were: Dick Bower, Fran Flaherty, Wayne Roberts, Tom Whaley, Bob Morrill, John Jones, Craig James, Bob Collmen, Cliff Ford, and Mickey Aitken. Following the initiation, a banquet was held at the Red Coach Inn during which Fran Flaherty received the Alice Hall outstanding pledge award.

Visiting Province Chief Warren Danford closed the banquet with a talk on fraternity life and its meaning in the future.

Men Uncover Well-Toothed Old Skeleton

"That skeleton has a better set of teeth than I have," said Dr. Carl D. Duncan, head of the Natural Science department, upon viewing the remains of four Indians whose skeletons were uncovered by Dr. Allen W. Jacobs and Carl Mieske, bio-science student, at a site by the San Jose Canning company.

Superintendent Vince Rubino called Dr. Jacobs Wednesday afternoon after workmen, digging a new foundation, had discovered the bones. Some super-sleuthing has been going on in the Science department ever since.

Mieske, 6 foot 4 inches, estimated the height of the one body which is almost complete at about 6 feet by comparing his thigh bone with the skeleton's. By the large rib cage, the over-size skull and the flat pelvic bones, he identified the remains as those of a tall woman.

She was probably a young woman, Dr. Jacobs said, because there are 13 teeth (the ones that caused Dr. Duncan's remark) in the lower jaw. The teeth are very little decayed but they are ground down flat.

From the shape of the teeth, Mieske and Dr. Jacobs have surmised that the Indians were probably Digger Indians located in this area during the pre-white era, about 500 years ago.

Digger Indians were fond of chewing acorns and other hard nuts and berries, hence the flat teeth. A lazy tribe, they did not cultivate for food as did eastern groups. Burying grounds of Digger Indians are usually located near creek beds because they didn't want to work hard to get their dead underground, Mieske mentioned.

The feet of the woman's skeleton are still under the old foundation at the Canning company. "We sure would like to have the feet," Dr. Jacobs said wistfully, "but we didn't want to pester the men."

Mieske uncovered the skeletons about 36 inches below the present level of the land. About a foot of the earth, Dr. Jacobs explained, has been laid by erosion and the winds since the burial.

A display of the bones will be set up as soon as Mieske puts the pieces together. It will take about two weeks. Along with the bones will be shown some shell beads and a pestle used by the Indians to grind their food. These also were found with the skeletons.

Mieske is piecing the remnants together under the direction of Les Brubaker, head technician in the Science department.

Engineers Give Turtle Advice

"How can you tell if they're boys or girls?" Mary Ellen Wise, student teacher, inquired of Dr. Ralph A. Smith, associate professor of zoology. It seemed that her grammar school class was worried about the sex of their two turtles.

However the letter went by mistake to Dr. Ralph J. "Nuts and Bolts" Smith, head of the Engineering department, instead of to "Bugs and Bites" Smith.

And Nuts and Bolts Smith brought it up as a problem for the chairman of the departments to solve at the division head meeting recently.

After several appropriate suggestions had been made, the matter was ended with a reading of Ogden Nash's epic of the turtle's love life:

"The turtle lives 'twixt plated decks,

Which practically conceals its sex.

I think it's clever of the turtle, In such a fix, to be so fertile."

"No wonder!! You're three minutes fast!!"

Blackbirds Ready Spring Campaign

By BOB JONES

Every year about this time, some eager reporter sets himself before his typewriter and attempts to warn his fellow Spartans of the coming event. And, every year about this time, Spartans ignore the warning.

First of all, if you haven't noticed, it's spring. You can recognize it by the symptoms. Not only are blossoms blossoming, buds budding, and rains raining, but boy things are thinking about girl things, and vice versa. It can't be helped; that's just the way things are!

Possibly you are saying to yourself, "What's this have to do with me?" A lot, my friend; the situation is vital and calls for drastic action.

Now get this! When spring has sprung, little boy blackbirds and little girl blackbirds become very conscious of each other. Now don't say, "Isn't that nice?" It isn't by a long shot, because you're going to have to pay for it.

In a few weeks from now try to enjoy your darn spring weather by taking a stroll down E. San Fernando street past the old San Jose High school buildings. If you do, don't complain that you weren't warned. You'll be dive bombed, dusted and mutilated by one little winged black demon after another.

No, we haven't been invaded. Spring has taken its toll, and Mr. and Mrs. Brewer Blackbird are protecting their individual territories from you or any other invader. They are, quite naturally, since it is spring, expecting additions to their families, and they are making sure that you, or any other animal, don't spoil their plans.

According to Laidlaw Williams in the January-February issue of Conder magazine, it is Mr. Brewer Blackbird that you will have to contend with the most. Williams further points out that "the greatest portion of the male's aggressive activity is directly concerned with guarding his female . . ." and that this aggressiveness is most apparent around the nest.

So have a care! Avoid entering that area no matter what reason demands that you cross the forbidden territory. If you must pass through it to get home, move.

Remember, Spartans, you are only human but blackbirds will be blackbirds, especially during this time of year.

'Open City' Shows Italy and Fascism

The directing talents of Roberto Rossellini in "Open City" will be brought to the screen today at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. in the Little Theater. Admission is 30 cents.

The Italian film, ranked as one of the best foreign films in the last 15 years by Dr. Hugh Gillis, chairman of the fine arts division, is the third in a series of great motion pictures sponsored by the San Jose Players.

The film, starring Anna Magnani, is the story of a people's revolt and reveals the brutal impact of the Fascist regime on the lives of the Italian people.

Bee Moves In; Gives Master's Group a Buzz

Those bees buzzing around campus are caused by Frank Gale's bee hives. Mr. Gale, instructor in biology, is in the process of moving his winged pals to the roof of the Science building.

While moving day was going on, division heads met in S 104 to decide problems of the master's degree. One bee entered the room and proceeded to fly down the row of instructors, examining each head on his tour.

Dr. Carl D. Duncan, head of the Natural Science department, described it as "putting the bee on the Master's Degree committee."

College Is Draft Testing Center

The college again will become a testing center for the Army selective service deferment examination which will be given from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Apr. 24, according to information received by Dr. Harrison Heath, test director.

Approximately 122 students have signed with their draft boards to take this test.

"The college serves only as a testing center and has nothing to do with the registration of students for this exam," said Dr. Heath. He also stated that those persons who have not already signed with their draft boards will be ineligible to take the test.

Test results will be compiled in Princeton, New Jersey, where the Educational Testing service is located, and then forwarded to the student's draft board.

Chagonjian Is All-American

Archie Chagonjian, football co-captain and top defensive safety last season, has been selected on the Sigma Nu fraternity All-American team, it was announced recently in the organization's national magazine.

The Spartan was named to the left halfback spot. The San Jose State chapter Sigma Nu member is included in an illustrious backfield which includes Billy Mais and Johnny Olszewski of California and Bob Brandeberry of Kansas.

Spartans Tie Bears, 3-3; Play San Diego Today

After tying the University of California at Berkeley 3-3 Tuesday in an 11 inning contest, the Spartan baseball club resumes action this afternoon against a powerful San Diego State nine at 3:15 o'clock in Municipal stadium.

Coach Walt Williams' men had won five straight previous to the Cal game and will be all-out for a victory against the Aztecs. They will be helped some by the return of Ralph Cleland, an outfielder and .250 hitter last year who was injured early this season.

The Spartans will have their hands full when they take the field against the San Diego club. The Aztecs are the only team to beat USC this year and knocked over Stanford 5-3 Tuesday in 10 innings. They were helped in part by brave errors but they have a number of long ball hitters who could do the Golden Raiders some damage.

The Spartans' brilliant freshman hurler, Doug Bochner, will face San Diego in his second assignment of the year. Bochner came in with the bases loaded against potent Santa Clara and allowed only one hit in five and two thirds innings.

Sensational Clair Parkin struck out 12 men Tuesday as the Spartans played the tie ball game with Cal's Golden Bears.

New Records Set

Spartan track team stars received awards at Saturday's meet with Cal Poly and College of Pacific.

Standing from left to right: Lang Stanley, who received a cake for breaking the school mile record; Walt Burnett received a dual award, a cake for breaking the school 440 record and a trophy for being the high point varsity man in the intra-class meet; Joe Orocchi, who received a trophy for being the high point man in the intra-class novice division; George Nickel, a cake for breaking the discus record; Herm Wyatt, received a cake for the new high jump mark; Owen Moore was awarded a cake for also breaking the 440 record; and Bob McMullen for his new marks in the mile and two miles.

Chuck Adkins Rated as Best Spartan Boxer

By WALT ROESSING

Only four Spartans have ever managed to win a National Collegiate Athletic association boxing crown and it appears that Chuck Adkins is the greatest of the bunch.

Last Saturday night in the University of Wisconsin fieldhouse in Madison, Wis., Adkins won the national title in the 139 lb. class, and with the victory he received a bid to participate in the Olympic team boxing tryout finals this summer.

The clever and talented Raider, a native of Gary, Ind., won the coveted championship by decisioning Pat Sreenan of the University of Wisconsin.

Dick Miyagawa won the 127 lb. title for San Jose in 1942, Wayne Fontes the 155 lb. crown in 1949 and Mac Martinez the 125 lb. championship in 1950.

The NCAA crown for the local boxer, who has the moxie and skill of a tried professional, was the climax of a whirlwind 1952 season schedule in which he was unbeaten and the 139 lb. champ of the Intermountain tournament in Pocatello, Ida., and the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate meet at Sacramento. He was also chosen the outstanding boxer at the Intermountain tourney.

Adkins, who will be 20 years old Apr. 27, came to Sparta from Gary, Ind., in September, 1950. He was an outstanding athlete in numerous sports while attending Roosevelt high school in Gary. The present Spartan, as a high school athlete, was an All-State halfback in football, a pitcher on the baseball team and a 100 yard dash man on the track squad. In boxing he lettered three years. Two years ago as a 17-year-old, the lightning fast ringman captured the 135 lb. national Amateur Athlete Union championship. That was quite a feat for such a young performer!

The college sophomore is married and has a young daughter. His hobbies are hunting and guns. During the summer months he works for the post office in Gary.

What are this police major's possible chances of qualifying for the Olympic team and going on to professional stardom? Most college coaches and boxers who have seen Adkins in action believe that the Spartan is an outstanding performer and the top ranking amateur in his weight in the country today.

Coach Dee Portal has said that Adkins is the greatest collegiate prospect he has ever seen, at this or any other college. Wisconsin's Sreenan, after losing the national crown to the Spartan in Madison last Saturday night, reportedly told the native born Indianan that he is the greatest college boxer he has met or seen.

College coaches up and down the Pacific Coast have displayed amazement at Adkin's skill and ring savvy. Spartan followers in matches here the past two years have adopted the 139 pounder as their favorite and have "awed" and "ahed" while he was in the ring. At the PCI finals in Sacramento this year Adkins dazzled the 6500 spectators, not only with his all-around ability, but also by his sportsmanship in not taking too much advantage of an inexperienced foe.

Adkins is truly a great champion and sportsman and is destined to be, if he isn't already, the finest boxer this college and Coach Portal has ever produced.

Raider Golfers Defeat Broncs

Spartan golfers continued their undefeated dual meet season record Tuesday afternoon by defeating Santa Clara 23-4 at La Rinconada course.

Medalist of the meet was Golden Raider Wally Regan with a 72. He was followed by teammates Stan Gum, 73; Bill King and Gene Broderick, 74; Gordy Williams, 75 and Art Christopher, 78.

Ken Venturi teamed with Irv Cooper in Los Angeles Tuesday in a special exhibition match against professionals Ellsworth Vines and Zell Eaton. The two teams tied at 67 each.

PRESS BOX CHATTER

By WALT ROESSING

A Spartan baseball team which was badly underrated at the start of the season faces one of the best teams in the state this afternoon at Municipal stadium. Its opponent is a San Diego State college nine which has inflicted the only college blemish on Southern California's record this season.

USC lost to San Diego by a 3 to 1 score. The Trojans, incidentally, are rated as the best college nine in the West this year. Santa Clara's coach, Bill Prentice, has said that the SC'ers possess the best collegiate baseball team he has ever seen.

San Jose edged the Broncs by one run, 5-4, a week ago, but the Trojans trounced the local university 10-1 twice in succession last weekend.

It should be fairly obvious by now, then, that the San Diegians have quite a club since they held the powerful Southern Californians to a lone tally in a nine inning contest.

Tuesday the visiting Aztecs whipped Stanford 5-3, a team which beat the locals early in the year.

Whom has Coach Walt Williams selected to stop the hard hitting and good pitching San Diego contingent? Freshman right-hander Doug Boehner, with one win and no losses, will start on the mound.

The Golden Raider record this season of five wins, three losses and a 3-3 tie with California is due mainly to the fine pitching staff. The local hitters haven't been pounding the ball with any regularity and the Spartan hurlers have had to go all out to win ball games.

Boehner has not allowed an earned run so far this season while Clair Parkin has allowed less than one earned run per game. Against California Tuesday the Bears succeeded in getting only one earned run off Parkin in eleven innings, two runs scoring on infield errors.

No Spartan sticker has an impressive batting average. Andy Miller leads the batters with a .307 average. His percentage dropped 46 points in one game as he failed to hit against California in five trips to the plate. He is the only regular hitting over .300.

With some good pitching from Boehner today and a little support from the heretofore silent Spartan bats, the locals can down the impressive Aztecs.

The baseball team may add a few games to its schedule before the season is over. Because College of Pacific had designated earlier in the year that it would drop baseball this spring, no contest was scheduled with the Tigers. The Stockton college officials changed their minds, however, so San Jose State may play the Tiger nine on the weekend of May 3.

Coach Williams may add a couple of additional tilts at the end of the season. The Spartan baseballers might make a trip to Oregon during the last week of May. Nothing definite has been decided as yet.

Spartan Cindermen To Meet Petent Navy Squad Saturday

Spartan tracksters may have their short win streak snapped when they tangle with the San Diego Naval Training center squad, Saturday, at 1:30 p.m. at Spartan field.

The Gold and White team, defeated by the Olympic club and Stanford, holds dual wins over College of Pacific and Cal Poly. They also hold a triangular meet win over Fresno State.

The Navy squad, which is rated second on the coast behind the powerful Southern California Trojans, is undefeated this season having beaten the University of Arizona, Arizona State at Tempe and Los Angeles State. They defeated the LA State squad, which they met last Saturday, 114-17.

Led by Floyd Dennis, who was clocked in 9.8 for the century last year while attending Jefferson high school in Los Angeles, the Navy team has the depth that is lacking on the Golden Raider squad.

In compiling 114 points against a weak LA State crew, NTC swept both dashes, the mile and two mile, both hurdle events, the high jump, broad jump, pole vault and copped the relay.

The Spartans, on the other hand, boast some of the best men in the country with which to take first place honors. Walt Burnett still has the best mark in the nation in the quarter mile, a 48.3 which he hit at Stanford. Owen Moore is rated fourth in the same event with a 48.5 clocking.

Herm Wyatt, Bob McMullen, Bill Priddy, Jim Tannahill and Paul Dennis are other Spartan aces who will compete Saturday.

THE FRIENDLY STORE FOR MEN

SOUTH OF THE BORDER SCHOLAR—Journalism Graduate Dorothy Jocz wears a smile as she receives a scholarship trophy from Gamma Alpha Chi President Barbara Koperski. Dot, who returned this week from Mexico City college, won the cup, which is presented each quarter to the member of the advertising fraternity having the highest scholarship, for two consecutive quarters, fall '50 and winter '51, with grade point averages of 2.78 and 2.6, respectively.

Ex-Daily Scribe Depicts Turbulent Mexico Life

By MARV HALL

South of the Border living has its ups and downs, according to Dot Jocz, college journalism graduate and former Spartan Daily society editor, who has been studying at Mexico City college for the last ten months.

One day you might be sunning on the sandy shores of Acapulco, and the next day you might find yourself caught in the middle of one of Mexico's periodic, minor revolutions.

Miss Jocz, who is visiting San Jose for a vacation while looking for a job, was trapped by a flat-tire in the peaceful little town of Oaxaca one day and all of a sudden, a slight argument between the people and the mayor over a tax issue blossomed into a small war.

She crouched in her hotel room to stay out of the line of fire while the revolutionists stormed and took the cathedral. She escaped unscathed.

Miss Jocz went to Mexico City college from here before graduating and received her SJS diploma by mail after completing more units at the "southern" school. While there, she took courses in anthropology and also worked in public relations for the school.

Mexico City college has the quarter system and two-thirds of its students are American, Miss Jocz said.

One thing that Mexico City college has that we don't is a varsity bullfighting team, Miss Jocz said. The final in that course consists in entering the ring with a specially-bred fighting bull, and applying the techniques you've learned during the quarter, to kill him.

Air Professor Heads Meeting

Thomas E. Leonard, assistant professor of aeronautics, officiated at the organizational meeting of the northern division of the California Aviation Educational association last Saturday at San Mateo junior college.

Representatives from northern California state and junior colleges, high schools and elementary schools met to organize the northern part of the association into a centralized group.

Mr. Leonard, northern division chairman and vice-president of the association, declared that a notable enlargement of the organization was made.

Also representing the local campus at the meeting were Harry P. Hale, associate professor of engineering, and Nicholas Milichevich, aeronautics instructor.

Highlighting the association's meeting was an address by a representative of the Hiller Helicopter corporation, Palo Alto.

I am Industry-1952

Ushered into a new world,
I had a bustling, brawling, bruising youth.
I was a potential giant awakening in a world of giants.
People were hurt when I first stirred in life;
Then I grew and learned;
Then I matured and knew that
Though I work with water and metal and chemicals and fire,
I am more than these things.
I am the people's work!
I am the people's dream!
I am the people!

With maturity, I have grown, too, in social responsibility,
To the people,
To America!
And even to those beyond our shores.
My efforts are not in selfish interest;
Rather, all my brain and brawn strives for the good of the many!
I am the American way!

Now, I have sworn that these things shall be:
I shall deliver ever-better products to those who use my fruits!
I shall offer equal opportunity to those who work at my side.
Whatever their race!
Whatever their creed!
Whatever their color!
Whatever their national origin!
I shall forever do my part to keep America great!

And why?
Because only in this way can I remain a healthy force in our free world.
For when I am healthy, America prospers
And tyrants tremble before my might.

I am America's life-blood!
I am America's strength!
I am the bulwark of the World's freedom!
